

THE FOUNDATION FOR SHAMANIC STUDIES
a non-profit public 501(c)(3) charitable and educational organization

Submission Guidelines for Publication in the Shamanism Annual (November 2012)

The editorial policy that guides this journal is one that is consistent with the mission of the Foundation, which is to study, transmit, and revive shamanic knowledge. In all of this, primacy is placed on shamanic practice and extensive firsthand shamanic experience. Journal contributors should be operating from a common database. They should be well educated in experiential shamanism and, if not so qualified, be presenting important ethnological information that stands on its own merit.

Our editorial policy favors original articles on journey work and healing work following core shamanic training, as well as original accounts of indigenous shamanic practice. We occasionally publish articles of significance and excerpts of books that have been or will be published elsewhere, with permission from the copyright holder. We do not at this time accept or publish reviews of any kind. All articles are copyrighted by the Foundation for Shamanic Studies.

This journal is published primarily to serve members of the Circle of the Foundation. The journal is entirely supported by member contributions; advertisements are not accepted. Contact info@shamanism.org to ask about obtaining specific articles or issues.

Manuscripts should be submitted for consideration as electronic computer files only, as an e-mail file attachment. Margins should be one inch, or the metric equivalent; fonts should be simple and clear, with no special formatting. File submissions must either be in MS Word (.doc or .rtf) or WordPerfect (.wpd). Submit text and illustrations-artwork to: Susan Mokelke, Editor, Shamanism Annual, smokelke@shamanism.org.

Reference style is as illustrated in Vol. 5, No. 1 for summer 1992, and later issues of Shamanism or the Shamanism Annual. References must be in this style. Download a sample showing preferred reference style:

Generally, the upper limit to article length is 10,000 words. In cases of longer manuscripts, please contact the editor via e-mail before submitting.

Illustrations. Electronic submission of illustrations is preferred as TIFF or jpg files, either burned on a CD disk or as email attachments. They must be at a resolution of 300 dpi. These files may need to be compressed in order to be emailed due to the large size of TIFF files at high resolution. Hard copies of photos/artwork may also be mailed; please send high quality copies, not originals. All relevant documentation must accompany each illustration submitted: they must be captioned and numbered sequentially on the back of each illustration. If the orientation of the figure is not obvious, this should be indicated on the back. All photos and artwork must be properly credited to the photographer or artist who took/made them, and dated.

The deadline for submission is August 1. Space is limited. Selection of articles to be included is by the editor and editorial committee. We reserve the right to make editorial changes.
